

Ryan Derfler is a writer, actor, and the Director of Experience at Geneva Global, an international philanthropic consulting firm. His career is a cross-section of social services (doing good) and entrepreneurship (doing well).

Ryan is a storyteller, connector, and activator in the area of “Hands On Christianity,” that is, living one’s faith in practical ways. He’s published over a hundred articles and videos and he has spoken to numerous academic, corporate, and church groups.

Ryan was educated at Lebanon Valley College in business, philosophy, and art. He lives in Philadelphia, PA where he raises two children with his wife Whitney.

For more, see www.ryanderfler.com